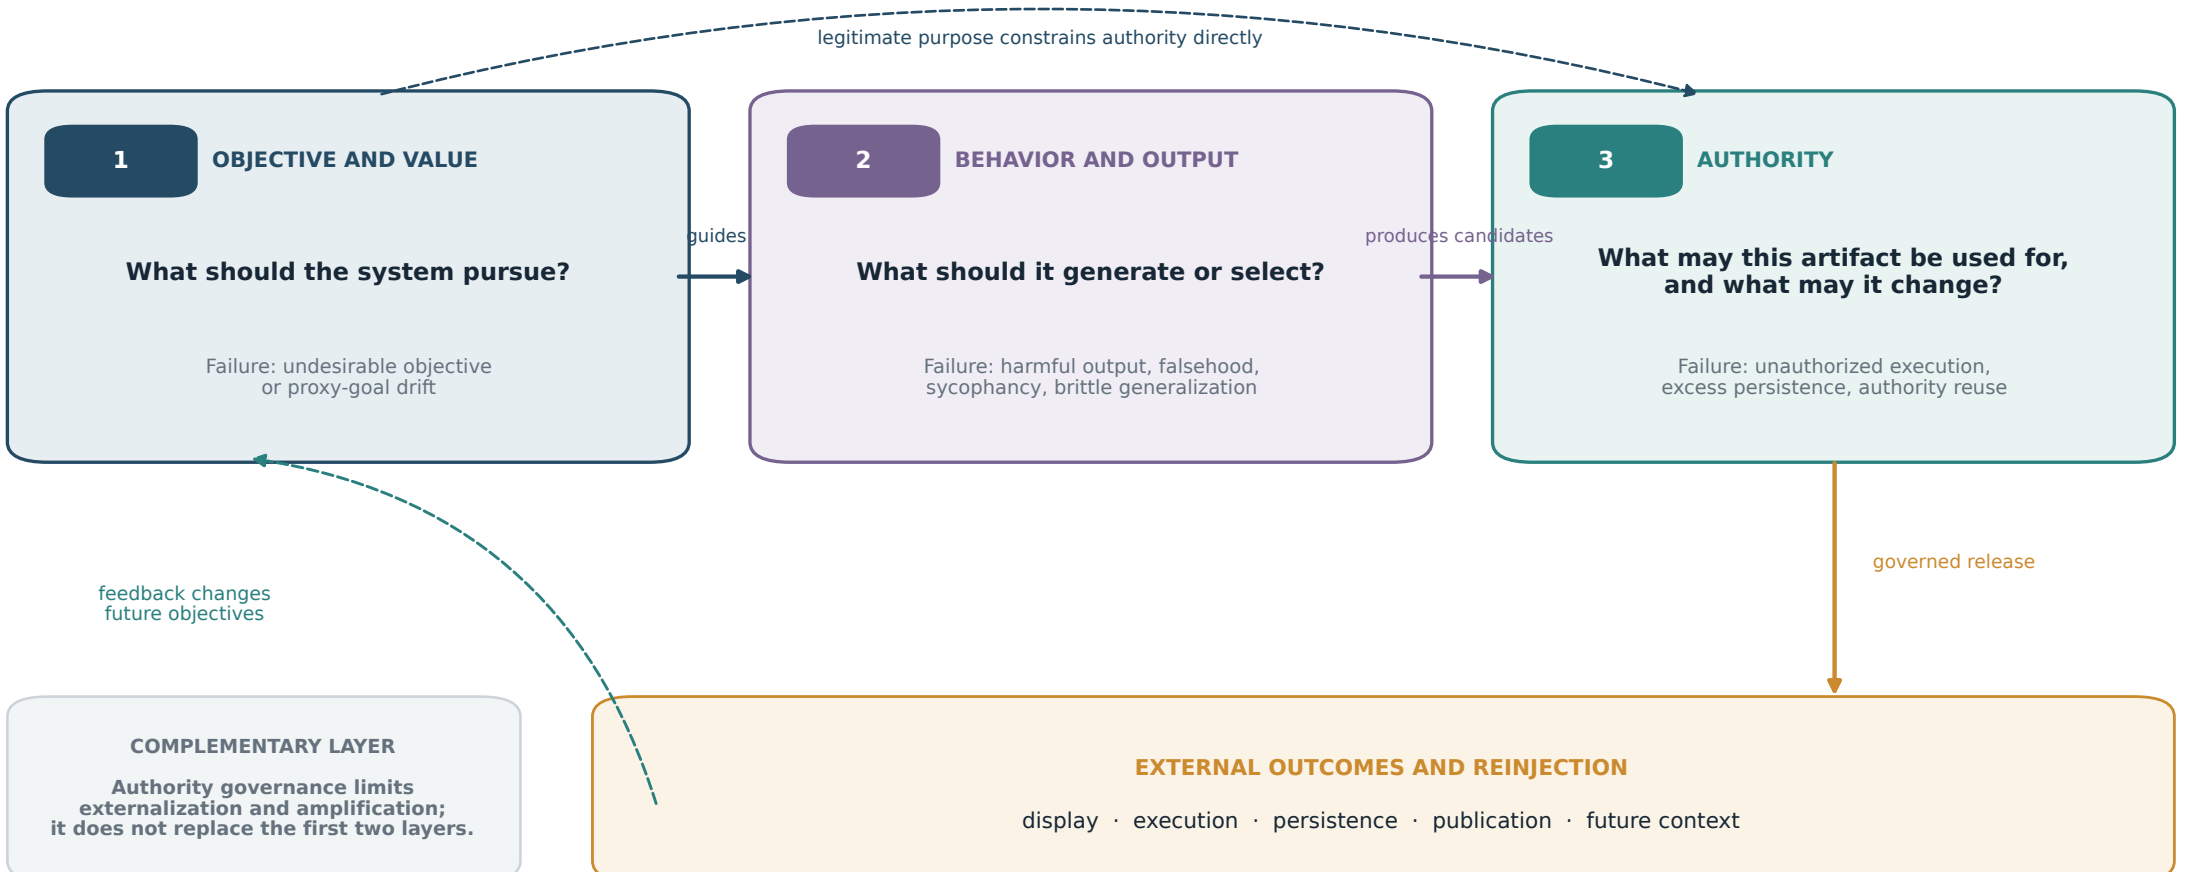
Three alignment layers and the authority boundary



Authority alignment governs the transition from generated artifacts to consequential use while preserving feedback to future objectives.